

SUPPORT DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION AT BROWN

You can help to ensure students have access to a Brown education regardless of their background. Your support can foster an educational environment at Brown that welcomes all students, inspires innovation, and prepares tomorrow's leaders to make a difference in their communities and our world.

MAKE YOUR GIFT TODAY

Return the enclosed reply slip, scan the QR code with your mobile device, or visit brown.edu/go/brownDEI2022.

Making it possible for students from diverse backgrounds to experience a Brown education.

Creating an environment where all can thrive. These are core to Brown's mission. As part of the Brown Annual Fund's family of funds, these giving opportunities allow you to provide immediate support to diversity and inclusion initiatives happening at Brown right now.

Inman Page Black Alumni Council (IPC) Brown Annual Fund Scholarship

Bolster the University's efforts to cultivate a diverse and inclusive student body at Brown. Gifts to this fund provide financial aid that makes a Brown education possible for African American and Black undergraduate students.

Pathways to Diversity and Inclusion Fund

Enhance the experience of students from historically underrepresented groups. Gifts to this fund support creative programming and opportunities, including identity-based program housing and academic offerings, emergency support for low-income undergraduate students, and centers that provide resources for students from diverse communities.

Advancing Diversity in Medicine Term Scholarship

Support The Warren Alpert Medical School's efforts to attract and train medical students from all cultural, ethnic, racial, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Gifts to this fund are directed toward financial aid for students underrepresented in medicine, ensuring that these students are able to choose Brown for their medical education.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in Engineering Fund

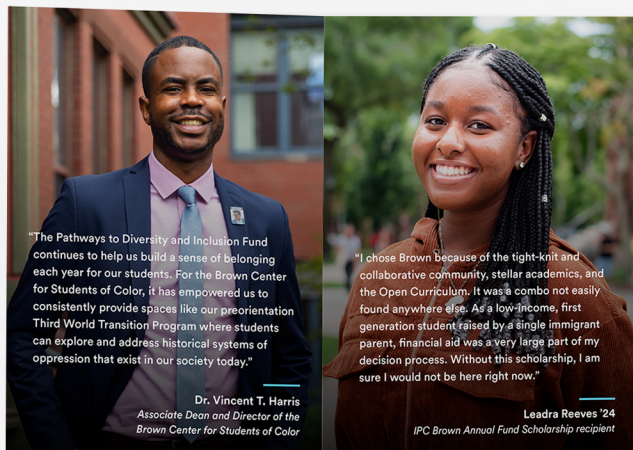

Help the School of Engineering in its mission to build a diverse and creative learning community that inspires innovation. Gifts to this fund support initiatives that will build a more diverse faculty, enhance course materials, and provide activities and programming for the student body that promote an inclusive environment.

What does it take to create an educational environment where everyone knows they matter? Where knowing you matter is reflected in the lived experiences of students, faculty, and staff?

The answer to that question is what attracted me to Brown University. I saw an opportunity to serve at an institution where commitment to diversity and inclusion is championed from the top—and where I could be a thought partner to leadership and the entire campus community in advancing diversity and inclusion. My vision is simple: to cement Brown's place as a leader for equity, justice, and belonging in higher education. I cannot think of a better time to be at Brown. I invite our alumni and donor community to stand beside us as we move Brown toward that vision.

Dr. Sylvia R. Carey-Butler
Vice President for Institutional Equity and Diversity
Brown University

"The Pathways to Diversity and Inclusion Fund continues to help us build a sense of belonging each year for our students. For the Brown Center for Students of Color, it has empowered us to consistently provide spaces like our preorientation Third World Transition Program where students can explore and address historical systems of oppression that exist in our society today."

Dr. Vincent T. Harris
Associate Dean and Director of the Brown Center for Students of Color

"I chose Brown because of the tight-knit and collaborative community, stellar academics, and the Open Curriculum. It was a combo not easily found anywhere else. As a low-income, first generation student raised by a single immigrant parent, financial aid was a very large part of my decision process. Without this scholarship, I am sure I would not be here right now."

Leadra Reeves '24
IPC Brown Annual Fund Scholarship recipient

Making it possible for students from diverse backgrounds to experience a Brown education.

Creating an environment where all can thrive. These are core to Brown's mission. As part of the Brown Annual Fund's family of funds, these giving opportunities allow you to provide immediate support to diversity and inclusion initiatives happening at Brown right now.

Inman Page Black Alumni Council (IPC) Brown Annual Fund Scholarship

Bolster the University's efforts to cultivate a diverse and inclusive student body at Brown. Gifts to this fund provide financial aid that makes a Brown education possible for African American and Black undergraduate students.

Pathways to Diversity and Inclusion Fund

Enhance the experience of students from historically underrepresented groups. Gifts to this fund support creative programming and opportunities, including identity-based program housing and academic offerings, emergency support for low-income undergraduate students, and centers that provide resources for students from diverse communities.

Advancing Diversity in Medicine Term Scholarship

Support The Warren Alpert Medical School's efforts to attract and train medical students from all cultural, ethnic, racial, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Gifts to this fund are directed toward financial aid for students underrepresented in medicine, ensuring that these students are able to choose Brown for their medical education.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in Engineering Fund

Help the School of Engineering in its mission to build a diverse and creative learning community that inspires innovation. Gifts to this fund support initiatives that will build a more diverse faculty, enhance course materials, and provide activities and programming for the student body that promote an inclusive environment.

"The environment at The Warren Alpert Medical School was unlike any other I had experienced. Their commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion and student wellness was palpable. I knew I'd thrive there, but (as the first in my family to apply for medical school) I also knew that financial aid would ultimately dictate where I ended up. I will never forget the sheer joy I felt when I found out I had been awarded a scholarship that was enough to put Brown at the top of my list."

Anthony Cloyd MD'22
Brown Medical Annual Fund Scholarship recipient

"To make engineering an inclusive field for all students regardless of background, strong investments in diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives are essential. In recent years, new student organizations at Brown are providing community and professional development opportunities to students from historically under-represented groups in STEM. Student voices can create change in this landscape, but they must be financially supported to do so."

Alicia Minor PhD'23
PhD candidate in biomedical engineering